

Asset Institute™
OPTIMISE SUSTAIN TRANSFORM

Positive Asset Management Solutions

There is a better outcome.
We can help you find it.

The Asset Institute is the link between global challenges and innovative solutions.

We connect asset owners, service providers and aid organisations with the world's leading researchers. This unique connection facilitates transformational change in the performance of engineering and infrastructure assets.

Our holistic approach to asset management drives pioneering research, delivers optimal outcomes and enhances community livelihoods.

The Asset Institute builds on the internationally recognised capabilities of its former entity, CIEAM (the Cooperative Research Centre for Infrastructure and Engineering Asset Management). It draws together our established network of industry experts, professional bodies, government agencies and research institutions.

New thinking in asset management

Imagine having access to world-class expertise that optimises the performance of your assets. Working with The Asset Institute makes this possible.

Partner with us to discover new thinking, world-class expertise and innovative research to solve real problems.

We take your unique asset challenges and match them with leading experts who can solve them. This exposure to new thinking and innovative research enables your assets to deliver enhanced economic, social and environmental outcomes. Our whole-of-life approach to asset management integrates sustainability at every stage to provide real and transformational solutions.

Transforming communities

The Asset Institute works with you to make a difference to community livelihoods.

We facilitate researchers, governments and aid agencies to work together to provide state-of-the-art asset solutions for each community.

This integrated approach involves assessment of an asset's performance potential, resilience and sustainability. It gives assurance, direction and certainty that outcomes achieved will benefit the community as a whole.

The synergy of collaborative research

Shared intelligence can solve the impossible.

Our unique ability to connect the world's best researchers with leading organisations across many industry sectors opens up incredible opportunities.

The Asset Institute is an independent body that gives you access to innovative solutions in asset management. As our partner, you'll be able to harness groundbreaking research that sets international standards, now and into the future.
